To the Loving Members of the Foot Foundation,

So often in life something will come to be, not through planning, seeking, or our own action, but purely by purpose derived from divine providence. That is how the IamMore Foundation was created. As young adults we decided that we wanted our medical battles, injuries, illness, pain, and suffering, to not be in vain, but to have purpose, and this purpose was meant to be far greater than any of us as individuals could ever fulfill. The mission of IamMore is to enhance the lives of children living with chronic illness or physical disability by facilitating opportunities to build their identity in their passion rather than their affliction. The goal of our mission is positive self-image outside of medical diagnoses. We sponsor individual children, while including their siblings, as well as, holding small athletic camps and clinics partnered with local hospitals.

This is also how we met the FOOT Foundation. We were not planning or seeking, but through divine intervention and the generous hearts of their board of directors, the FOOT Foundation chose IamMore as the local organization to sponsor for 2015.

We have been in existence 18 months and had encountered obstacles with our IRS filing. Our source of revenue was small donations from people who believe in our dreams, and all of our equipment is borrowed. Ultimately, this meant that outreach is completely restricted by the availability of others with the resources and willingness to share. However, our world changed the day that we met Dino Scanio, Founder of the FOOT Foundation.

We were introduced while volunteering. From that day, he provided guidance to obtain our tax-deductible 501c3 status, and offered us the opportunity to own our very own athletic equipment. Lisa, Dino, and the FOOT Foundation have gone far beyond gifting athletic gear to IamMore Foundation. Their donation means freedom. Freedom to engage with more children and expand our outreach...Freedom to not only work with larger groups, but build continued relationships with families in the community living with disabilities, offering social, physical, and emotional development, and most importantly Freedom to fuel more passion.

We are forever grateful for the loving support of your organization. The impact your purchase made on our children could never be described in words. With each smile, laugh, ball kicked, or hit, goal scored, or run around the bases, KNOW that you are responsible for the milestones these young Athletes achieve. We will watch young strangers become friends, confidence grow, and personalities blossom, and all of this will be your doing. It is not limited with time, but ongoing and without boundaries. Again, thank you from our hearts. We look forward to the future of IamMore and FOOT Foundation, knowing that this is truly just the beginning of a beautiful partnership.

Be blessed and BE MORE,
Kat Leibbrandt
